PART A*I.(a) Read the following passage and answer the questions each in a sentence or two:

Teaching is the noblest of professions. A teacher has a sacred duty to perform. It is he on whom rests the responsibility of moulding the character of young children. Apart from developing their intellect, he can inculcate in them qualities of good citizenship, remaining neat and clean, talking decently and sitting properly. These virtues are not easy to be imbibed. Only he who himself leads a life of simplicity, purity and rigid discipline can successfully cultivate these habits in his pupils. Besides, a teacher always remains young. He may grow old in age, but not in spirit. Perpetual contact with budding youths keeps him happy and cheerful. There are moments when domestic worries weigh heavily on his mind, but the delightful company of innocent children makes him overcome his transient moods of despair. A good teacher is understanding, trustworthy and polite though he is under stress or tensions. He always pushes his students to do their best by making his teaching style more creative and interesting. He respects his students and shows concern for them.

- 1) Why do we consider that teaching is the noblest of professions?
- 2) What are the virtues a teacher should have?
- 3) Why do we say that a teacher remains young always?
- 4) How can a teacher overcome his moods of despair?
- 5) What are the qualities which a teacher can inculcate in students? (5x 2=10 Marks)
