(AUTONOMOUS)

IRINJALAKUDA

TWO-DAY STATE LEVEL WORKSHOP ON METHODOLOGY OF LOCAL HISTORY

Date: 5th & 6th December, 2019

Venue: Seminar Hall

Dear Madam/Sir,

Warm greetings to you

The Research & Post Graduate Department of History, Christ College(Autonomous) Irinjalakuda is privileged in hosting two-day State level Workshop on "Methodology of Local History" on 5th & 6th December 2019.

"Local history is a qualitatively different genre of enquiry using different category of sources which are interrogated with innovative methodology. The practice of local history has to evolve a methodology of its own. The local history is a democratic endeavour. Since the writing of Local History undertaken through democratic participation, there is always the possibility of compromising the Rigours of what Marc Bloch has called Historian Craft. Therefore, the relationship between the writing of local history and the historical method requires to be seriously considered." K N Panikkar in Writing Local History in times of Globalization.

Local history has acquired a new respectability in Kerala, since the 1990s. Professional historians, amateur historians, researchers and students in Kerala have been showing unusual interest in local history nowadays. However most of the local histories that have appeared in Kerala are not of well-grounded historical method. Hence, training in methodology becomes necessary for the creative and effective uses of the sources for writing local history. This two-day workshop addresses the question of how to develop a methodology of its own for conceptualizing local history.

We welcome teachers, researchers, and students to participate and share their views in this subject. We expect a scintillating discussion on the topic.
